Down Syndrome Diagnosis Information Act

You can help us change the way Down syndrome is perceived in Idaho.

Research shows that a parent’s experience of receiving a diagnosis of Down syndrome is very impactful and the memory of fear or hope stays with the parent for a lifetime.

The Down Syndrome Diagnosis Information Act will:

1. Require hospitals, physicians, and other health professionals to provide written information about Down syndrome, resources, and support groups to parents who receive a prenatal or postnatal diagnosis of Down syndrome for their baby.

2. Ensure that parents receiving a Down syndrome diagnosis for their baby are provided timely, accurate, and complete information.

3. Change many Idahoans' experience of fear and isolation to support and hope when hearing their baby has Down syndrome.

People with Down syndrome are valuable additions to Idaho.
